

Virtual Boundaries

James Henry

7 screen video installation set in a dark space.

Virtual Boundaries surveys our relationship with technology; processed Internet footage recreates the individually tailored bubble we find ourselves in online due to the nature of algorithms. Layered video feedback brings focus on the cyclical patchwork of this virtual space, in turn presenting an opportunity for the viewer to cognitively map the chaos in turn unearthing insights and questions into how it is we interact with a vast network of algorithmic labour.

Virtual Boundaries

James Henry

bio

DJ/Producer, party organiser, label owner and audio visual practitioner specialising in all things vibrant, dusty and groovy currently based in Bristol.

Technical rider

7 identical screens

7 monitors for audio playback

7 looped media playback devices

Power for equipment

Dark setting

Can be adapted on request